“...like many others, I have hoped for a trail like this for many years. A beautiful place to hike with a spectacular view of many important parts of the park.”
~ Josh Weinman

HOW THEY BENEFIT

Safety & Access
Currently, the only safe way to access the tidepools is by vehicle, leaving many visitors disappointed when vehicle access is closed due to traffic congestion. The new trail will provide safe pedestrian access for those seeking a tidepool experience.

Education
The new trail will unveil new education opportunities for our youth to learn about the Park’s natural, historical, and cultural resources.

Environmental
The new trail will protect and preserve the natural resources including endangered species such as Orcutt’s Spineflower, the California gnatcatcher, and the native landscape.
